

Sol-Ark was called a Disruptor last year at SPI, what's next?

Sol-Ark is here again, challenging the market to lower costs and innovate for residential and small commercial markets. Keeping with the Plug-n-Play theme, this Women Veteran Owned engineering company is a contender.

This very nimble inverter company will listen to your pain points and design what the market asks. On top of this, they have 7 day a week support based from their Texas location. You won't get a recording; you'll get a human who understands the system and can "actually" help you.
